WASHINGTON-Blaine died sesterday

Dr. J huson was summone: to the edside early this morning, but the act was unknown until shortly after II, when in company with Dr Hyan he left the house.

Both looked unusually pale, and viien ac osted by a reporter for the latest news, significant looks on the faces answered the question. "He'lead," said Dr. Johnson, "and passed way peacefully.

The news spread like wildtire, andistors flocked to the house. Work was at once sent to President Harrism, who, accompanied by Private secretary Holford and Dr. Parker, as once walked to the Blaine manalog ollowed quickly by Postmaster Genral Wannamaker. - The presiden howed marked signs of grief.

The parient had passed a restless iight. This morning he was languis and weak, but nothing serious was soted until shortly before 9 o'clock when a change for the worse occurred Both physicians were has ily sumnoned. They remained at the bedide till death. Blaine was consciouuntil a few moments before death, and the end was so peace of that only the experienced eye of the physician could perceive that the great states can had joined the vast majority. Dr Hyatt said Blaine's death was duo sheer exhaustion. He was unwiling to make a statement regarding he exact disease until he had re s ived the consent of the family. Returning from his visit to the oure of death, President Harrison issed a proclamation to the people of he United States announcing the teath, giving a brief resume of the cereer of the late at paring a tribute to his devotion to public interests, marked ability and exalted patriotism, which have wor or him the gratitude and affection of his countrymen and the admiration of be world, and directing that on the lay of his funeral ail executive departments at Washington be closed and on all public buildings throughout the United States the national flag be displayed at half mast, and for a period of thirty days thereafter the department of state be draped in mourning. Secretary Foster issued orders closing the state department.

It has been decided that services be held Monday forenoon. The remains will be interred here at least tempor arily. It is not yet decided whether the funeral be public or private. The Senate and House adjourned us a mark of respect to Blaine, without transacting one business.
